

I'm Tami Stearns's friend, Kellie, and we hosted a Christmas party that you visited last year. I FINALLY got around to writing you a review. I figured this is still acceptable since Christmas is just around the corner 😊. I've also attached a picture of my girls with you from last year. It still makes me laugh. We haven't looked at the calendar yet, but we'd love to have you again (if you're up for it). I hope you're doing well!

"We hosted families for a Christmas party and Santa decided to drop-in for a visit. Not only were our kids absolutely thrilled, but Santa was so believable that our children, (all from ages 1-8), went around for days saying that "the real Santa came down from the North Pole to visit our house!" In fact, even months later our girls kept saying, "Remember that one time the real Santa came to our house to visit?" He shared "the spirit" of Christmas and took the time to individually speak with each of our children. He told stories about the North Pole, gave insight on what it was like to be Santa, and even answered all the kids' unique and interesting questions. Our event was truly special and incredibly memorable because of Santa's holiday cheer and everyone, including the adults, felt the magic of Christmas."

— Santa.jpeg —

